

to the attention of the Senate and that we have action in the Congress as a whole, and we send a bill to the President before we adjourn in October.

The President, in responding to a letter to TRENT LOTT, the majority leader in the Senate earlier, this month, and I think we entered this letter into the RECORD last week, so I am not going to go into all of the details; but he spells out the problems that he has with the Republican bill that is proposed in the Senate and has a lot of similarities, in a negative way, to the House Republican bill.

But I do want to point out what the President is talking about in terms of the need to move the agenda. He says that, "Since last November, I have called on the Congress to pass a strong, enforceable and bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights. During this time, I signed an executive memorandum to ensure that the 85 million Americans in Federal health plans receive the patient protections they need, and I have indicated my support for bipartisan legislation that would extend these protections to all Americans. With precious few weeks remaining before the Congress adjourns, we must work together to respond to the Nation's call for us to improve the quality of health care Americans are receiving."

Mr. Speaker, I want to point out that not only has President Clinton been talking about the need for the Patients' Bill of Rights for over a year, started very emphatically in the State of the Union address last January, but he has signed these executive orders that actually expand the types of patient protections that I talked about tonight to those within Federal health plans. Also, last year, the Congress passed and sent to the President, and he signed, the Balanced Budget Act, which also included a lot of these protections in Medicare and Medicaid programs. Not all of them, but a lot of them.

So the President has done his part, really, to not only bring this issue to the attention of the Congress and the American people, but also through administrative methods to try to include it in any plan that comes under the aegis of the Federal Government. However, none of these things apply, or at least are required under Federal law, for anyone who has private health insurance. That is not fair. Clearly, if these things are good enough for the Federal Government, for Federal employees, for those who are in Medicare and Medicaid, it should apply to everyone equally, the same way.

More needs to be done, of course, because a lot of the things are not covered even under the Federal plans because the President does not have the authority to expand all of the patient protections to those plans, so we need the patient protections that I mentioned tonight, not only to make it fair for those who have private plans, but also to cover all of the public plans as well.

The last thing, the other thing that I wanted to point out that the President says in his letter to the majority leader in the Senate, he says, "I remain fully committed to working with you, as well as the Democratic leadership, to pass a meaningful Patients' Bill of Rights before the Congress adjourns. We can make progress in this area if, and only if, we work together to provide needed health care protections to ensure Americans have much-needed confidence in the health care system. I urge you to make the Patients' Bill of Rights the first order of business for the Senate."

The President has indicated, and all of the Democrats have indicated, that we want to work with the Republicans in a bipartisan way to get the Patients' Bill of Rights, or something like it, passed. So far we have not been getting that cooperation from the Republican leadership, even though we do get support from some Republican Members individually.

So I would urge tonight, we only have less than 4 weeks left really, and I would urge my colleagues to put pressure on the Republican leadership, in the Senate primarily, and ultimately in both Houses of Congress, to get this managed care reform agenda moving. Let us have debate in the Senate, let us get something that both houses can agree on, and let us send it to the President before the October recess. We owe this to the American people, because so many people are suffering now when they are denied health care that they should have as Americans.
